Little Rock's First National Bank
Wrecked by Its President

He and His Personal Friends Take
Most of the Concern's Funds

Fraudulent Paper Issued at Wholesale Now Pouring In.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 2.—The First National bank of this city will not open for business to-day. Its liabilities are understood to be over half a million. About ten days ago the bank passed through a terrible crisis, but through the timely arrival and assistance of Col. Logan H. Root, its former President, confidence was restored, and the public had begun to think the institution as solvent as ever. The bank was then reorganized, with Col. Root as President, and Dr. C. M. Taylor as Vice-President. The cause that led to the suspension of the bank was the issuance of fraudulent notes.

"When I took charge of the bank the statement showed that President Allison had received $100,000 of the bank's money more than $450,000 of the bank's money for which there was but very little security," said Allison. "The statement presented bearing the indorsement of Allison, Cashier Denny, and the President of the books of the institution. The paper had already appeared and rumors have been received of more than double that amount. I have not been able to ascertain the exact amount of such fraud, but I am sure that it is out of proportion to what the bank has received one cent's benefit. Under the circumstances, I have decided to do my best to close the institution and place its affairs in the hands of the Government."

"The form of most unrecorded paper currency," said Allison, "is promissory note, most of which we have received from the city of Chicago, and is issued by either 'City Electric Street Railway' or 'Chicago Electric Street Railway' or 'The McCarty-Joyce Company,' or other persons closely connected with the city of Chicago. The name of the name by Allison and Denny."

"The stockholders will be paid in full or not depending on many things. The stockholders are liable to an amount of money which will be paid in full or not depending on many things."

FOY SENTENCED TO DIE

But His Counsel at Once Files Notice of Appeal.

BALLSTON, Feb. 2.—When Court convened this morning Judge Russell summoned Martin Foy, Jr., the Guttenberg "tout," who was yesterday convicted of murder in the first degree for the killing of his alleged mistress Henrietta Wilson, of Philadelphia, before him

After a few remarks the Judge sentenced Foy to be executed in Dannemora Prison during the week beginning March 13.

Foy received the sentence without a sign of emotion. Later he made the following statement:

"I was born in England; my father is alive; am single; a hostler; can read and write and have had Roman Catholic instruction."

A motion for a new trial was denied by Judge Russell and counsel then filed a notice of appeal. Foy will be taken to Dannemora to-morrow.
